Desperate Struggling by Rear
Guard Actions to Save Armies.

KUROPAKIN IN JAP TRAP

cession of Russian wounded is dragging them along the highways in an endeavor to reach Mukden.

Two-thirds of the losses are Russian. The Japanese have already captured considerable numbers of troops, together with some seventy field guns, ammunition wagons, and great quantities of supplies.

General Oka's army, comprising Oyama's left wing, has occupied Pashan, about twelve miles from Mukden.

The Standard's correspondent at Yen Tai, in a dispatch printed today, gives the following account of the battle and its result:

"The whole Russian line has been driven back over a distance of 20 miles and 70 guns have been captured. The loss is being kept up by a strong force on both flanks. There is good reason to believe that Oyama has succeeded in enveloping the enemy. The cause of the Russian defeat is that the Japanese troops on the main road, and that the Japanese command, which has been reinforced by a brigade of infantry and a regiment of cavalry crossed the Taitse river, but found themselves in a critical position and retired to the right bank, with the Japanese in pursuit. The Japanese hurled back 10 counter-attacks upon their right. The army lost 3,000 men in the fighting around Pashan."

KUROPAKIN CUT OFF.

A dispatch from Tokyo to the Standard says:

"It is officially reported that the Japanese right army has succeeded in isolating a force of three to four divisions of Russians in the Pashan-Kiaokan district. It is rumored that Kuropakin is in the hands of the Japanese. The Japanese have the force, which seems doomed to destruction. The Russian army, which has been cut off, is being driven back. The Japanese are now advancing upon Pashan. In any case, his move was an unexpected setback for the Japanese army."

RUSSIA ADMITS DEFEAT.

St. Petersburg admits that Kuropakin has again met with disaster. The Standard's correspondent at St. Petersburg says that Kuropakin's army has been driven back. The Russian army is now being driven back. The Japanese are now advancing upon Pashan. In any case, his move was an unexpected setback for the Japanese army."

OYAMA'S STORY OF BIG BATTLE

TOKYO, Oct. 15.—Pia-Ma-Ma Oyama's report of yesterday's campaign, forwarded from the Manchurian headquarters last night, has been made public. It is as follows:

"Several attacks of the enemy made in the direction of Pashan have been repulsed. The enemy has been driven back. The Japanese army is now advancing upon Pashan. In any case, his move was an unexpected setback for the Japanese army."

"A large enemy force, commanded by Pashan, made a determined effort to break through the Japanese lines. The Japanese army, which was reinforced by a brigade of infantry and a regiment of cavalry, successfully repulsed the attack. The enemy was driven back. The Japanese are now advancing upon Pashan. In any case, his move was an unexpected setback for the Japanese army."

"The right column of the right army is now attacking the enemy's position. The enemy is being driven back. The Japanese army is now advancing upon Pashan. In any case, his move was an unexpected setback for the Japanese army."
